

Remote Control

Description

Players in pairs. One player, uses her voice and body to produce any sound she wishes. The other player interprets those sounds through movements, acting in synchronization with the first player's "sound track". Exchange roles after a while.

Variations

The player doing the movement controls the player doing the sounds.

Alternatively, each player leads in turn without a predefined order.